APROIAL MAPATORES TO THE OREGINEAN. New York, Feb. 11.—Thomas, M. Nechall, in a card in to-day's Tribune, in reply to an attack by the New York Commercial Advertises in regard to the Cieveland distributed monument, uses the who sought to control his official action, or degrade or destroy his character and reputation, are respon selved in your innermost souls. It was your abuse and debunciation that "inspired" (futeau to remove the president as a political necessity, and you will not be permitted much longer to hide the stains on your hands or district attention from them by raising the dust around the heels of Blaine, by throwing mud at Shesman, or heaping ridicule on me. Tour crime was not merely the murder of a man, it was the transfer of government by a murder to the hands of a faction of the party, which, if the question could have been submitted to the people at the time it was done, would not have received one vote in a thousand. One would think that with such a fact hanging over your heads in the clear daylight of public knowledge you would have sense enough, though destitute of all decency, to unjoy the lease of power the assassin gave you, while the law allows, without persistently villifying the chosen friends and associates of your victim, who was the making a boloce. Why, you are the most stupid fools in the world to keep on providing discussion of these old matters. You stand as acknewledged criminals, as morally responsible for and guilty of Garindid's murder; but against you, on account of your friends and the good name of the community, prosecuting witnesses are loth to proceed. But when you treat mercy as cowardice, and to guilt add insolonce and decisions, you are no longer suitled to forbeisences. So now if you want reconsideration and full discussion of the whole subject proceed with your abuse.

Edward M. Kirtland, son of the sentor member of the firm of Kirtland, Humphreys & Co., prominent cotton factors, and clerk in the house, was arrested at union depot at 9 o'clock last night; just as he was stepping aboard the Missouri Pacido west bound train. He is charged with forging the firm's name to a check for $2500 and collecting that sum from the St. Louis National Rank yesterdey, and all circumstances in the case, point to his guilt. When arrested he was accompanied by a frail woman named Kate Williams. Both were taken to police headquarteys, and $7000, Kirtland's gold watch, two tickets for Alburquerque, New Mexico, were found on the woman, which also said were given her by Kirtland. The location for the bunkers has not yet been deductely delymined upon. By using the present coal track and continuing the ames along the side of the bluff toward Hausen & Co's mill, a sufficient elevation can be attained with an increase in the grade. The grade from the south end of Hisakwell's luttel to the coal wharf is 100 feet to the mile, and beyond it would be necessary to increase it to 130 feet per mile. The height of the bunker is likely to be somewhere, between 90 and 90 feet above the dock to be built in front of it.

MONDAY MORNING, FEB. 13, 1862. CANDIDATES FOR STATEHOOD.

During the present congress bills have been introduced for the admission of nearly every territory into the union as a state. In some instances these aspirations are well founded and deserve the proper attention of congress while the claims of others are absurd. A number of eastern papers, however, commit the error of classing them all as absurd regardless of the present condition and capabilities for future growth. Knowing but little of the great differences in soil, climate and other resources of either, the claims of New Mexico and Washington are considered as on a par, and both worthtees. Dakota is classed with Arizona, and similar errors of judgment are made in relation to all others. A little investigation would show the critics whervin lies their mistake.

Out of the number of territories clamoring for admission but four-New Mexico, Utah, Washington and Dakota-possess any of the mecessary qualifications for statebood. Arizuna has but 50,000 inhabitants, and Idaho still less. Utah has the requisite population, but the curse of Mormonism effectually stands in they way of her admission, no matter how popalous she may become. This leaves but three territories to deal with. New Mexico is a territory with barely the sufficient number of people to allow her admission into the union. The class of which size tenths of this population is compused is almost incapable of development. Bigoted and priest-ridden, indolent and treacherous, they lack only the institution of polygamy to make them a worse curse to the nation than the Mormons. The few Americans who live in New Maxico are miners, stock men and govern. ment officials. It has no large bodies of agrisultural land, and much of its surface is wholly incapable of cultivation. Its resources are confined to mineral productions and grazing exclusively. There is no inducement for the entilement of that class of Deople who desire to haild up permanent homes for themselves and their posterity, and its sole attractions are these which may be found in the presence of meld and other precious metals. Furthermore, the development of New Mexico has progressed antelowly for many years either in population or wealth, its condition being much the same is Spein, from whence the mans of its inhabsants are to a certain extent desconded.

Dakota, on the other hand, is almost entirely an agricultural territory. The same vant plains which comprise more of Kansas and Nebranks extend northward far into the unexplored regions of British America, the only difference in them being found in the climate. Dabote has little wealth but agricultural, but she has that in profusion. Thousands of square miles capable of raising excellent grain are resettled although her present population is seen 160,000; She has so many miles of railroad as Massachusetts, and raises more grain mall Row England. Her capacity for fufder development is marvelous, and at the et rate of increase her possibilities as o choic are fully equal to those of Minnesota or

C. Washington, the last of the three mentioned eniporice, although it has not yet the full sinculat of population needed for a representathe fa congress, has the greatest variety of resources and the strongest claims for recognition of any of the territories of the United Mates.  $THE \sim UNION GENTEALE$

As a result of the collapse of the last French bubble, of which the telegraphic reports have had so much to deliver lately, great numbers have been brought to financial ruin, a Bothsslight variation of east and characters. Its history is briefly this: Eugene Bontoux reads in Southern Austria which are controlled to some dispute arising out of his management of the reads, an open rupture occurred, the result being the creation of the "Union provided for by the bill. It ought to pass. Generals." He began with a capital of 100,000,000 france, and established his headquarters in Paris., He naturally became presdent, and a board of directors was chosen which gave for a time unlimited confidence and credit to the scheme.

In consequence of French corlegisation legislation the property of churches and moanstories had just been sold and turned into money. Bontoux had the address to interest these powerful factors in his project, and, with their assistance, he began a system of operations extending over a vast territory and involving fabulous same. He instituted a great number of branch banks all over France. lat operations were not limited to that were held by the "Union Generale," and suc-125. In a short time they reached the enormous value of 3,000 france; in other words, six times heir nominal and twenty-five times their actual cost. The result of such wild speculation was nevitable. In one day the shares of the Union Generale" fell from 2360 to 1300, and thereafter lower and lower. But for a time it comed founded on a rock. To show how fully yndicate of Prussian bankers, with Rothschild at their head, endeavored to depress the stock f the company at a time when shares stood at about 1000. The "bears" began a united attack, and shares were thrown on the market n great quantities. The managers of the Union Generale" were, however, not to be intimidated. They purchased all that were offered. Finally, after they had bought more shares (for future delivery) than in reality existed, they announced a very large dividend. The result was that instead of depreciating in calue, as the "bears" had anticipated, shares vent up to a much higher figure. It is said the "bears" lost more than 80,000,000 france at

These operations postponed but could not vert the catastrophe. Leading bankers, mong them the Rothschilds, agreed to advance the prodigious sum of 850,000,000 francs to save the situation; but the offer was insufficient or too late, as the concern stopped payment about a fortnight ago, with the ruin that always attends the bursting of these bubbles. France appears to be the natural home of wild chemes of this kind.

And still there is dispute about Mrs. Linwealth alone, Washington has both. coln's financial condition. A member of her the is the only territory containing timber in family recently in speaking of the grant of condescription of the prospect for her coming in is still not imasked to explain said "Mrs. Lincoln has $55,- mediate. This idea which has gone out that she needed anything has emanated from her own mind, owing to this fact of her insani ty on this subject, and had no reasonable foun. dation." One of the New York satirical papers in speaking of the affair makes a good lit in a very low words, concluding a statement of the case with: "Respectfully referred to Robert T. North American Review. He is, in fact, completely refuted and overwhelmed by medi cal statisticians who show that before the great discovery of Jenner the smallpox was one of the most dreadful scenrges of the world, but that since that time it has ceased to be a scourge; that the death registers show that 614 New Market black, m End I. The question, "What will Mrs. Grundy say?" was first saked in the comedy "Speed the Plow." In that play Dame Ashfield is constantly anxious on that point. Noah M. > The San Francisco Merchants' Exchange will soon introduce the "call" system in the sale of wheat and other produce. This is the planwhich is common at Chicago and other large eastern markets. It adds the interest of chance to business, and with its attendant system of margin dealing, allows large operations on small . capital. It has one important advantage, that ; of fixing unotations and affording a record of actual transactions. This new departure of Notions. Stationery & Furthe Merchants' Exchange is a surprise, and scems to be an effort to forestall the Produce

Exchange, which is arranging for a similar system of public sales.

The "independent movement" in Georgia is taking form. J. H. TAFFE.

[Mr. Taffe is hypercritical. As far as our observation goes, the hackmen of Portland, particularly those in the employ of the several stables, are careful, efficient men, and as polite as necessary. We know hundreds of men in this city—very good men and members of churches—who sometimes tell hard stories, and actually laugh. We don't think the backmen amenable to the law relating to disorderly conduct.—Growas Editon.

Identity of the Corpse found near Weidler's Mill.

Strangled with Chloroform in a

Bagnio, and his body thrown

(From the Sunday Stregonian, Late in November the body of an unknown man was found in the Willamette river near Weidler's mill, a stone about his neck and one dered by Carris Bradley, the keeper of a notosake called men. The murd red man was John Nelson Brown, a middle agod farmer, unmarried, living near Freeport, W. T., and he was killed October 28th, 'A few days before, be came to this city and began a aprec. He visited the bagnic of Bradley where so he then ing Simmons of the arrest of Bradley i alleged - he was robbed of $6 by Dolly Adams, one of the inmates. He lodged a complaint pearance. The day before the trial he disappeared and has not been seen alive since. The circumstances of the fluding of the hody, the long-continued inquest, the efforts of Coroner Garnold to have the remains identified, and failure to learn beyond a doubt the man's identity, are too fresh to need re-slatement. There was only one clue. Stephen J. Gillis who had started early for a day's hunt saw a closed carriago standing near Nicolai's open dock immediately abovo Weidler's mill, Sunday morning, October 30th, just before daylight. The man who was holding the horses' heads on being questioned could give NO BATISFACTORY EXPLANATION

Of his presence there at that hour. However this was the trace which led to the detection of the crime. So much was learned: The carriage was hired of George Baker, was driven to Bradley's, and stood before the house several hours on Saturday night, October 29. District Attorney Caples was satisfied that Beadcommission, and set Constable Simmons to work on the case. The latter soon learned that the immates they more of the murder than they were willing to tell, because they feared Bradley's vongeance. Four indictments had been brought against her for carrying on her nefarious business. In one she pleaded guilty and was fined $100. Mr. Caples was satisfied if the ware allowed to the control of the carry allowed to the capture of the ca if she were allowed to leave town that her girls might be induced to testify, so be consented to have the cases lie over until the next term.
The first clue that Constable Simmons found was when Dolly Adams wanted him to get her trunk out of the house. At that time Simmons went there and told Bradley that he wanted the trunk, when she answered that Dolly Adams owed her $60, but Intemned as she was in a great deal of trouble, having to answer to an indictment, she would let the trunk go. Sim-instance to the consequently, while observing the lotty policy, to see Central American republics united more firmly than in the past, so they may be able to protect their common, interests, which so fare is fluid foreign relations are concerned, are is fluid foreign relations are concerned, are included in principle with those affacting Mostros and the United States. This government thinks that what very may diminish the good will and harmony so desirable among the republich of the Ishiman will disastreatly affect tards mutual will be ing. The responsibility for conservation of this attitude common to all, to form a union that may strengthen their friendly relations belongs to all, in the opinion of the president—to all, in the opinion of the president—to the powerful states no leas than to weaker ones, Without consequently projunting in any way they declind between Mostres and Charlensia, and adding a dislaterasted advisor of both, the president deem this duty to exposate the government of Mostro his conviction of the dangers which the principles as signality and successfully defended by Mexico would insure if it should look with front weaker neighbors, or if they should look with from weaker neighbors, or if they should look with from weaker neighbors, or if they should look with the contempt upon the boundaries which separate it from weaker neighbors, or if they should look with the project of the properties of the properties with the project of the properties of the properties with the project of the properties of the properties of the project of the Sconose and Chiapse. When Mexico constituted the light a republic it did net dealst from claims founded and on the imperial policy of absorption and conquest.

There are some historical questions in this, and one especially arising, as before stated, from impassioned statements or because unfortunately the institution of and known even during the empire. It was not conquest, but the free will of the people of Soconosco and Chiapas, which determined their annexation to Maxico, and this slao determined their excepting Salvador, the latter taking advantage of that same liberty. They separated from Mexico and formed a republic, retterned their purpose of remaining incorporated with this hast nation. All efforts to fix boundaries, condemn his policy as completely wanting in frankness and sincerity. From the facts briefly noted and from others, we are authorized to believe that the government, in addressing itself to the United States, has not proposed, as it would have it appear, to secure arbitration to nette the question of boundaries. The object in proposed, as it would have it appear, to secure arbitration to nette the facts arbitration has been only to gain time (as on a former occasion) to donatine between the facts and throw object in preceding to dester arbitration has been only to gain time (as on a former occasion) to donatine between the facts arbitration has been only to gain the question of boundaries, to secure arbitration to nette the depastion of boundaries, to solve many the facts and from only gain the dark to the door of the house, the provided and all clues which they have on the concealed and all clues which they have overer shronded and all clues which they have overer shronded and all clues which they have overer shronder and all deeps which might lead to concealed and all clues which they have done of the beach and all clues which they have discovery shronded and all clues which they have overer shronder and all deeps which might lead to concealed and all clues which they have done and thinde street, all three men riding, Sullivan inside with the coopse, and Hamilton with Maloney on the outside.
